Challenge

A leading UK global fashion retailer, New Look, was looking for a partner that could help them engage with a wider audience, to drive more traffic and generate more revenue. The objective was to bring relevant shoppers to their website and help convert them into customers.

Since partnering with Criteo in 2012, New Look has successfully implemented a lower-funnel strategy, targeting active customers.

To find, target, and convert relevant shoppers, New Look moved to a full-funnel approach with Criteo Customer Acquisition<sup>BETA</sup>.

Criteo Customer Acquisition<sup>BETA</sup> delivered outstanding performance resulting in 4x more orders than our other customer acquisition partners. Furthermore, users first exposed to Criteo's acquisition campaign were re-engaged by our existing Criteo retargeting activity which drove an additional 83% in new shopper orders.
